GOING AHEAD.

The Northern Pacific Has a Prosperous Year and is Pushing Extensions.

Some of the Proposed Branches and How They Will Benefit the Main Line.

A New Secretary and a New Assistant Local Items of General Interest.

The Northern Pacific is in the most pros perous year of its existence, and Montana will feel her share of the benefits accruing in the form of increased railroad building. It is now officially stated that this company will build its Gallatin-Butte branch, also the Boulder-Butte extension. Besides there is a probability that the proposed extension into the Castle mining district may be constructed during 1889. The latest step taken is to extend the Bitter Root Valley branch from Grantsdale, the present terminus, to the Meadow Hill country, a distance of thirty-three miles. Work on this extension will begin immediately. Contractors were last week looking over the ground and sub-contractors are getting ground and sub-contractors are getting their teams and scrapers ready for action. The field which this line will traverse is said to be highly fertile and it is only owing to lack of transfortation a d want of a market for produce that the country has not been tille before. Up in the Meadow Hill country is said that mountains of low grade silve ore exist, which have been but barely pros-pected. By means of cheap transportation these mines will pay to work, by shipping the ore to some reduction works on the main line.

The long train containing farming it plements which left Chicago a few days ago passed through here Sunday, in two sections. Altogether it contained forty-six flat cars. Twenty six of the cars carrie traction engines. This is the longest trai of the kind that was ever consigned to one point. It looked a good deal like a circus train as it passed here. The train ran on fast express time, and was bound for Portland, Ore, having originally come from Massilion, O., over the Wisconsin Central, thence on the Northern Pacific.

It may not be generally known, but fifty-three trains come in and out of Heiena every day. Of this number, forty five pass by on the Northern Pacific and the remain-der on the Montana Central. Thirteen on the Northern Pacific are through and loss the Northern Pacific are through and local passenger trains. There have been days at the Northern Pacific when fifty trains re-ported. Helena is the great railway center of Montana.

Missoula Item: Rumor has it that the Northern Pacific railroad has brought suit against a number of settlers of the Bitter against a number of settlers of the bitter Root for the possession of land settled on by them. As near as can be learned, for some years past both the railroad and the government has claimed certain odd sec-tions in that valley. A contest was insti-tuted by the railroad in the land office which resulted in a decision in favor of the which resulted in a decision in favor of the settlers. It now seems that Col. An Old and Respected Citizen of Helens Dies After Two Weeks' lilnes itizen of this city, died at his home on south Rodney street yesterday, surrounded by his family and a few friends. He had been suffering from a trouble which came upon him two weeks ago last Saturday at his ranch, and being removed to his home, No Change in the Districts Made by all that medical skill could suggest was done to relieve him, but the peculiar ailment with which he was affected baffled the physicians. Drs. McDonald and Leiser who were in attendance, said his illness be gan with inflammation of the stomach and deeration and obstruction followed with fatal results. He was calm and conscious to the last, and death stole upon him quietly. The sacraments of the Catholic church, of which he was a member, were administered on Saturday, at which time

REPORTORIAL NOTES.

The executive board of the Montana Sunday School association will meet this even-ing at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. rooms. The concert at Encore hall on Thursday ening is sure to be well attended, as the ladies and gentlemen participating are among the foremost of Helena's musicians.

The alarm of fire given Sunday evening was occasioned by a small blaze in Mr. Miller's re-idence, on Rodney street, caused by the explosion of a lamp. The fire was extinguished without the aid of the department. No one was home at the time, but Herman Richter noticed the blaze in time to prevent serious damage. Aside from three rooms and furniture being scorched the injury was slight.

Harmonia hall was redolent with splendor Sunday night. The hall has undergone a thorough renovation and presents a pleasing appearance. The entertainment was largely attended and highly appreciated. A MAMMOTH CONCERN. The Anaconda Mercantile Co. Reorganizes Under a New Name-Enlargement of Its Premises-Sketches of Its Members. Anaconda Review, April 11: Articles of ncorporation lately filed announce the organization of the Estes & Connell Mercantile Company of Anaconda. The new company starts out with a capital of $240,-000, and it will continue on a much en larged basis, the business which has been uccessfully conducted for five years past by Col. S. A. Estes, of this city. The law admitting Montana to statehood, has strength of the new organization will command the attention of business circles throughout the west. The officers are S. A. Estes, president M. J. Connell vice-president; Silven Hughes, secretary. The ownership of out-standing stock has passed into the hands of these gentlemen. It would not be easy to bring together in business relations three then whose names would furnish a better guaranty of success. Nine years ago Col. Estes closed a prosperous career as a mer-chant in the east and came to Montana, where his experience in the trade and his sound business sense soon opened the way eccessful career in a new field. Col nel Estes is one of the solid mer-chants of Montana. For several years he was a member of one of the leading firms of Butte. In Anaconda his experience has largely been in building up from a feeble beginning the immense trade at the head of which he now stands, and which in its extent is almost without a match in the territory. Back of rare business tact, Col. Estes is gifted with the splendid social qualities which have made him.

An admired favorite from the instant when the rickety stage coach trundled across the range and landed him bag and baggage in Helena. He contributes to the social side of the new firm a heart larger by far than its big capital stock. Skilled as he is in every detail of trade, rare good as he is in every detail of trade, rare good fellowship, unselfish devotion to friends and unfailing courtesy in manner have had their share in assigning to Colonel Esces the enviable rank he holds among his fellows. He will be at the head of the firm of the Estes & Connell Mercantile company as its general manager.

Mr. Connell's name will do more than a string of five-story, fire-proof buildings could accomplish in building up the new concern. There is no more stirring merconcern. There is no more stirring mer-chant in the territory than he. His pros-perous career has commanded the admira-tion of Montana business men. His per-sonal popularity and long experience in various lines of successful business will be of great service to the new house in Ana-conda. He is one of Montana's royal busi-ness men and his social traits will add to the penularity of the new firm.

the popularity of the new firm.

It is a piece of good fortune for the Estes & Conneil Mercantile company that Mr.

Silven Hughes is one of its organizers, and that important duties relating to its management are to fall on his shoulders. For several years Mr. Hughes was associated with Col. Estes in Butte. In Anaconda he had been at the head of the grocery depart-ment, and, under the new order of things, his duties will be enlarged. Mr. Hughes is thoroughly familiar with the trade and its patrons hereabouts. He is constant in his patrons hereabouts. He is constant in his devotion to business and his obliging manner makes him a universal favorite.

Tha new house starts out with large plans. It proposes to add a story to the present spacious building and to erect new buildings on First street. The first move will be to start, in connection with the store, a large lumber and coal trade, to gether with the manufacture of sash, doors and the like. Within twelve months the firm will doubtless far surpass every house in Montana in the extent of its operations. It has been organized for a successful career on a large scale, and Anaconda heartliy bids it welcome. heartily bids it welcome.
